Hi Louise,

Not long to go now, last week, watch out for people gathering suspiciously around your desk all looking like they're waiting for a presentation.

I've had a look at the report by Anglia Energy Consultants, if that's all they have submitted for the Code condition then that's not good enough. That's a report on SAP that they need for Building Regs, the condition requires a Design Stage Assessment under the Code for Sustainable Homes, something entirely different. SAP/energy efficiency is only one of 9 sections of the Code. Nigel needs to go back to these consultants and ask for a Code Design Stage Assessment and he'll have to pay for it too. It is though, better than the attempt by David Wilkinson which Cathy sent to me last time. If you need any more help, or whoever picks this up next week does, then let me know.

If you're not serving your own scones then I won't be coming.

Phil
