FOR THE ATTENTION OF MR MICHAEL PICKERING

Dear Sir

Further to our discussions regarding the installation of an acoustic attenuator on your exhaust duct.

We have spoken to Bruce Smith regarding his noise readings which do not actually tell us what he noise levels are in the exhaust stack.

The best way to move forward on this is by taking an acoustic noise reading on the section of stack that runs over the mezzanine floor. From the noise readings taken we can design an acoustic attenuator to reduce the noise level at the stack exhaust point by 10 dB.

We would propose to replace a section of stack with a straight through cylindrical attenuator. We would install the attenuator above the mezzanine floor section of duct.

Our price to carry out the noise readings and install the attenuator would amount to:

£1,460.00 (one thousand, four hundred & sixty pounds) plus VAT
