Telephone conversation with George Burton on 10th March 2009 at 2:35pm regarding the development at 339 Coventry Road Hinckley. They have commenced the development but have decided to keep the property as a single dwelling rather than convert it into two flats. He wanted to know if there were any planning issues with this change of heart. CCM was of the view that if they had not implemented the permission the property's retention as a single dwelling did not constitute development requiring planning permission.. The extensions maybe PD depending on their size and location. He would check that aspect on his return to the office.
