Biodiversity net gain

Paragraph 13 of Schedule 7A of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990 sets out that every planning permission granted for the development of land in England shall be deemed to have been granted subject to the 'biodiversity gain condition' requiring development to achieve a net gain of 10% of biodiversity value.

This is subject to exemptions, an exemption applies in relation to planning permission for a development which is the subject of a householder application, within the meaning of article 2(1) of the Town and Country Planning (Development Management Procedure) (England) Order (2015)*.

Applicants for planning permission are required to make a statement as to whether they believe the biodiversity gain condition will apply if permission is granted, please confirm:

☒ It is my belief that if permission is granted for the development to which this application relates the biodiversity gain condition would not apply

*A 'householder application' means an application for planning permission for development for an existing dwellinghouse, or development within the curtilage of such a dwellinghouse for any purpose incidental to the enjoyment of the dwellinghouse which is not an application for change of use or an application to change the number of dwellings in a building.

Details of the pre-application advice received

Hi Kristian,

Thanks for your email seeking advice on proposals for Dovecott Barn.

I raise no concerns or objections to the roof lights on the main building as the principle of their installation has been previously approved.

The barn originally formed part of Ravenstone Farm and has been converted sensitively to ensure its rural character and appearance is conserved and it continues to contribute to the significance of the farm as a curtilage listed building. This includes providing all accommodation within the original L-shaped footprint of the building and not extending beyond it. This is common practice in barn conversions where the plan-form of the original building is maintained and not altered by having extensions beyond the original building – this is also in line with the guidance provided within the Council's Good Design Guide. This means the principle of extensions can be difficult to establish but each building is judged by the Council on its own merits. In my opinion for Dovecott Barn a small extension sited to the rear on the southern elevation, off the existing dining room could be acceptable in principle as it would continue the linear form of the original barn. The dual pitched roof extension as you have drawn relates relatively well to the barn's character and form. For the proposed side elevation window on the extension I would suggest incorporating the low level vertical timber cladding detail below (as per the same detail to the infilled openings on the converted barn on this elevation) to provide the window with a more rural character. I would also question the need for roof lights (particularly on the western elevation) within the extension given the large amount of glazing already proposed for the extension.

I hope these comments are of use, and in my opinion I see no reason not to progress with the submission and listed building consent and householder planning applications for the proposed extension and roof lights, taking into account the suggestions above.

Many thanks,

Paul Grundy

Authority Employee/Member

With respect to the Authority, is the applicant and/or agent one of the following:

- (a) a member of staff
- (b) an elected member
- (c) related to a member of staff
- (d) related to an elected member

It is an important principle of decision-making that the process is open and transparent.

For the purposes of this question, "related to" means related, by birth or otherwise, closely enough that a fair-minded and informed observer, having considered the facts, would conclude that there was bias on the part of the decision-maker in the Local Planning Authority.

Ownership Certificates and Agricultural Land Declaration

Certificates under Article 14 - Town and Country Planning (Development Management Procedure) (England) Order 2015 & Regulation 6 - Planning (Listed Buildings and Conservation Areas) Regulations 1990

Please answer the following questions to determine which Certificate of Ownership you need to complete: A, B, C or D.

Is the applicant the sole owner of all the land to which this application relates; and has the applicant been the sole owner for more than 21 days?

- ☒ Yes
- ☐ No

Is any of the land to which the application relates part of an Agricultural Holding?

- ☐ Yes
☒ No

Certificate Of Ownership - Certificate A

I certify/The applicant certifies that on the day 21 days before the date of this application nobody except myself/the applicant was the owner* of any part of the land or building to which the application relates, and that none of the land to which the application relates is, or is part of, an agricultural holding

* 'owner' is a person with a freehold interest or leasehold interest with at least 7 years left to run.

 'agricultural holding' has the meaning given by reference to the definition of 'agricultural tenant' in section 65(8) of the Act.

NOTE: You should sign Certificate B, C or D, as appropriate, if you are the sole owner of the land or building to which the application relates but the land is, or is part of, an agricultural holding.
