Comments Details

Comments:	I acknowledge that although there are several incursions into the Root Protection Areas (RPAs), the mitigation measures proposed are proportionate and consistent with BS5837:2012 guidance. The use of manual excavation, ground protection, and Arboricultural supervision is appropriate given the nature and extent of the development. It must be confirmed that all works within or adjacent to RPAs will be carried out under direct supervision by the appointed Project Arboriculturist, as specified in the method statement. This supervision is essential to ensure that the retained trees are not compromised during the course of the development. In addition to the scheduled monitoring, the site will be subject to unannounced visits by the LPA to verify compliance with the approved tree protection measures. Any deviation from the agreed methodology or failure to maintain protection will be treated as a breach of planning conditions and may result in enforcement action.
