Dear Ashleigh,

Thank you very much for your email. The maximum height of the gate would be 1.3 metres on a gatepost typically of some 100mm more (so 1.4m), which are also the measurements of the existing gate adjacent the proposed new gate. It will be made of wood and in so far as we can source it, will be of exactly the same style as the existing 3.6m gate adjacent – a twin as it were, both for aesthetic and blending reasons.

I can confirm that no hedge plants need to be removed. Sideways growth will need to be kept trimmed periodically, but there will be no uprooting of any stems. The existing space is sufficient.

Kind regards

Chris Whitby
