Sear Sir/ Madam

Last year we intended to build a double storey extension on the side of our house. We went to great expense in getting the plans drawn up and then paid to get planning permission. Regretfully, after reviewing the costs of the build we are not in a position to continue with the proposal.
We have considered what to do with the space as it currently has a bolted on lean to, made of wood and a corrugated roof. Whilst this is nice in the summer it is little used throughout the rest of the year.

We have decided to consider a lean to conservatory and following a quote it is considerably cheaper. I called one of the officers in your team to ascertain if the permission we currently have could be altered. The officer I spoke to was extremely helpful and stated that this may be possible as the foot print of the building was the same. In order for this to be considered I was asked to submit a letter to you outlining the planning number of our current permission and a draft plan of the conservatory proposal.

I have enclosed a drawing of the conservatory. The original planning number is listed above. Can you please review this and advise me if it would be possible to change the plan and allow us to progress the conservatory.

I very much look forward to your letter. Thanking you in advance.
