Therefore, no further surveying of the existing dwelling is required.</li> <li>• Nesting birds: Our previous comments are outstanding. Evidence of active bird nesting was recorded, including active house sparrow nests and an active blue tit nest. Given the confirmed presence of active nests, the locations of the identified bird nests should be shown on an annotated elevation plan to confirm their precise positions and confirm whether the features are to be impacted by the works.</li> <li>• Specific compensation measures are also required. For example, like-for-like replacement nest boxes should be provided, with the proposed locations, make and model clearly identified on a plan.
