Supporting information requirements

Where a development proposal is likely to affect features of biodiversity or geological conservation interest, you will need to submit, with the application, sufficient information and assessments to allow the local planning authority to determine the proposal.

Your local planning authority will be able to advise on the content of any assessments that may be required.

Biodiversity net gain

Biodiversity net gain is a legal requirement for planning permission introduced on 12 February 2024. All applications are required to either provide detailed information proving there will be a biodiversity increase; or explain why the requirement does not apply to the development.

Find out more about biodiversity net gain, and access digital tools from our partners that can help determine if you are exempt, or produce the biodiversity metric information required.

Do you believe that, if the development is granted permission, the general Biodiversity Gain Condition (as set out in Paragraph 13 of Schedule 7A of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990 (as amended)) would apply?

◯ Yes
⊘ No

Biodiversity net gain has been introduced as a general condition for planning permission. As set out in The Environment Act 2021: "grants of planning permission in England [are] to be subject to a condition to secure that the biodiversity gain objective is met". Therefore, in England, all planning permissions are generally subject to biodiversity gain rules, unless they are specifically exempt or out of scope.

If you have stated that the biodiversity net gain requirement does not apply to your application you must provide the reason(s) why, and may also need to supply evidence (especially where you believe the application is eligible for the 'de minimis' exemption).

You can use our partner's free online tool to determine if you are exempt and to produce detailed reasons

Please add all the reasons why biodiversity net gain does not apply and enter a justification for each one

Reason biodiversity net gain does not apply:
Development subject to the de minimis exemption (development below the threshold)

What best describes the size of your site?:
Over 25 square metres

Please justify the reason why biodiversity net gain does not apply:
The development is proposed over the footprint of an existing building and on land already laid to hardstanding. The only part of the building which is not existing hardstanding relates to the small plant room projection. The plant room only equates to an area of 6.73m² of additional built footprint. The plant room is located on an area of land currently used as residential garden land at The Mill and is not a priority habitat. The new development impacts less than 25m² of amenity garden land and does not impact any linear habitats. The development would thus fall within the category of development falling below the threshold.

Reason biodiversity net gain does not apply:
Self-build and custom build development

Are you building more than nine houses?:
No

Is the total size over 0.5 hectares?:
No

Do all buildings meet the definition of self-build or custom housebuilding as set out in section 1(A1) of the Self-build and Custom Housebuilding Act 2015?:
Yes

Does your Local Planning Authority require applicants for self-build and custom-build development to evidence their eligibility?:
Yes

Please justify the reason why biodiversity net gain does not apply:
The proposed dwelling is a self-build dwelling for the applicant and his wife. They have both had full input into the design of the proposals and it is to be occupied by them as their own home. 'Self Build' has been included in the description of the development. The application pack includes a completed HBBC self and custom build evidence form.

Note: Please read the help text for further information why developments may be exempt or not in scope.
