

A large, mature blue spruce tree stands as the central focus in a garden. Its branches are heavily laden with vibrant blue needles. To the left, a weeping willow tree with long, drooping branches of yellowish-green foliage frames the spruce. To the right, a dense, rounded evergreen shrub adds to the garden's structure. The foreground is a well-maintained green lawn with scattered fallen leaves. The sky is a uniform, overcast grey.

T3 Willow