Covering email from Developer regarding Condition 8

I would like to bring the following points to your attention:

- The details regarding the storage crates serve as a generic example of their positioning and setup alongside the catchpit unit. Most manufacturers and suppliers charge a fee for site-specific designs; therefore, we are awaiting site purchase before proceeding with further instructions.
- The details for the Weholite storage pipes accurately reflect our onsite storage system. However, similar to the storage crates, these are also generic examples provided by SDS Limited, the manufacturer and supplier of Weholite.
