Dear Sirs,

Re: Proposed Improvements to Burbage Cemetery at Lychgate Lane, Burbage, Leicestershire

We have contacted the Planning Ecology Project Officer at Leicestershire Environmental Resources Centre who has informed us that their database indicates that no protected species have been recorded within 500 meters of the above site. Also they have informed us that the land immediately around the cemetery has no statutory or non-statutory ecological designations.

On the site there are areas of recently planted shrubs and young trees planted subsequent to the previous consent which would not require a tree survey being undertaken due to their size and age.

We trust that the above satisfies the requirements as requested on the planning application.

Yours faithfully,
