Hi Rudi
Nice speaking to you earlier.
Responding to the further details you required are as follows;
Where the wall is going to start and finish are marked in red, and as for the height I would like it to be 7 feet high.
The material is going to be red brick, though old style to suit the house.
This is ofcourse a proposal and I am more than happy to discuss and come to some sort of agreement. The house is 200 years old, although it's not listed there may well have been an understanding that the houses be pebbledashed in white, which can be done, if need be.
Again the material and the height are open to discussion. The main reason for the wall is privacy/security as that is the only garden there is on the property.
I await your response.

A Hambarsoonian
