It is the wish to render a brick wall facing the neighbour's property. We have to access her property to carry out the work, which she has consented to but not in writing. The wall in question can only be seen by two adjoining properties.

The wall is two storeys with 12 square metres area. The present brickwork has been in a poor crumbly state for some years even before it was listed. My view is rendering and painting white to complement the whole rear of the property, which is white. Rendering should be aesthetically pleasing to our neighbours.

Barry Whirrity has seen the proposals so will be able to comment on the work we wish to carry out.
