I think this a response to a discharge of condition notification?

Dear Theresa,

Please find attached a revised report on the photographic survey of the farm buildings following your revised comments. We have dealt with most of your observations and have also added some illustrations.

Please note the following, however:

1. In relation to the northernmost steel portal building which is to be demolished, the client has confirmed that the adjacent stone walls will not be affected and will remain as they are.

2. The structure attached to the north side of A3 is in fact built of modern breeze blocks so clearly replaces a structure shown on the early OS.
3. The text states that the central bay was previously used as a cattle shed 4. Section 3.1 we do not believe the grid pattern represents an inverted VIIII.
5. The submitted specification includes full details of the methodology for the watching brief: in the absence of a Brief from you, the advice letter states: 'archaeological attendance for inspection and recording during the breaking and removal of concrete from the area within/adjacent to the Scheduled area' I am not quote sure what I could add to the submitted methodology which has so far been acceptable for watching briefs in the county.

Regards
Richard
